

Grandma Sauter crocheted the bed cover in the pictures below. Mom told me she made 11 of them – one for each of her children and one for her. They are made for a regular size bed.

Grandma Sauter's crocheted quilt hangs in my home alongside a patchwork quilt made by Grandma Scherbenske. Grandma Scherbenske made this quilt with pieces from a book of samples for sofas. I don't know who the sales person was, but I have a feeling Johnny Scherbenske had catalogs for almost everything anyone needed to order. The backside of the quilt is made from satin. It slides off a bed with any movement!
