

The barely readable scribbling at the top of this says:

From Ruby's things – Mom sent it to me (Linda) after they cleared out Ruby's home.

From Ruby's things Mom sent it to me after Ruby's home was cleared ...

If you trust God with eternity but you snatch moments away If you trust God with tomorrow's cares but bear the ones today
If you know no peace, can find no release, and live just for what people say,
Then there's something wrong,
You can't trust for long that way.

If you love God with your heart and soul yet you find no rest If you love God as you say you do but give God second best If you can't find joy or a place to stop and life is just a bore, Then you've missed the ship You've made a slip and there's more.

If you say you know what life's all about and then you never live If you say you know about happiness but have never learned to give If you're searching for an unknown goal in a restless race from day to day, You're just kidding yourself
You'll never be living this way.
